

Ryan McGinley, “Mirror, Mirror”

Art, Contemporary art  Team Gallery, Soho  Until Saturday September 29 2018

By Howard Halle

In this (limited) crowd-sourced project, McGinley asked a number of people, ranging in age from 19 to 87, to photograph themselves in the nude within an arrangement of mirrors. Cameras and film were provided to participants, along with 20 mirrors to be used as each subject saw fit. The results were compiled and printed by McGinley to explore how “the camera functions as an increasingly ubiquitous mediator in the presentation of contemporary identity.”
